Warde and James, the co-stars, liquidated a very big debt in New Orleans. They had not been "turning em away," as the saying is, and when they reached the Louisiana city they owed their company $5,000 in the way of salary. They played in New Orleans to $16,000, and wiped out the debt.

A charming version of the fairy story

A charming version of the fairy story of "Cinderella," dear to all juvenile tearts, was given at the Fifth Avenue Tearts, was given at the Fifth Avenue Tearts, was given at the Fifth Avenue Teart Marwig. It was in aid of "The World's" Free Bread Fund, and it was argely attended. All the interpreters of he fairy story were children, admirably rained, and they posed gracefully in ableaux and executed many graceful lances. The enjoyable features were unmerous. A sword dance by Miss Violet Dale was particularly noteworthy, Miss Dale is but twelve years old, and expects to make her debut in legitimate frame, very shortly. Little Miss Zelda sanders was as effective as eyer, and so

The housing, or rather hoteling of the Italian opera artists in Boston has been ride a most important function. The exact position of their rooms, and any other interesting facts connected with the apartments, have been gravely given to the public. The De Reszke brothers—just think of it—occupy rooms that were used by the late James G. Blaine and President Arthur!

Ariel Barney sails for England on the eutonic next week. He has a mission of until in the English metropolis. The tission is connected with the coming Exon, and 'hat is all Mr. Barney cares any inst now.

The first performance of Manager Phillips's new play, "The Pawnbroker of the East Side," takes place at the Germann Theatre to-night, when the "German Harrigen," as he is now proudly called by his admirers, will have an opportunity of showing that "The Corner Grocer of Avenue A" was not merely a fluke success, but the result of a critical study of lower New York. Another important theatrical event to-night, is the presentation of "Charles I." by Henry Irving and his company at Abbey's Theatre. Mr. Irving has not yet given this play in New York, this season.

New York is threatened with an En-ish pantomime. It appears that Oscar arrett's "Cinderella" running at the Barrett's "Cinderella" running at the Lyceum Theatre, London, during Henry Irving's absence in this country, is to be brought bodily to America for a three months' stay. The London cast will appear in it, with the exception of Deane Brand and Miss Kate Chard. Up to the present New York has never taken kindly to English pantomimes.

Four performances of an original comedy by Edward Fales Coward, called "Hearts Are Trumps," are to be given in aid of the poor of New York at the Berkeley Lyceum March 8, 9 and 10. The play is in three acts, and its action takes place in 1780. The production will be under the entire management of the Strothers. In the cast will be W. Marcus Dennett, John F. Cook, Giles A. Taintor, Edward Fales Coward, Joseph J. Lamb, Miss Clara Byron, Miss Shippen and Miss Kenyon.

A professional association football league is now being projected by baseball men. If, as intended, games are arranged between Oct. I and Dec. I, it will probably be a failure, as the college teams are playing at that season of the year, and Association football no more compares with the college game than beanbag does with baseball.

A Chadron, Neb., despatch says: "A meeting was held last night to organize a cowboy race. A committee was appointed to perfect arrangements and report next Tuesday night. It is proposed to start the race from the Blaine Hotel and go five miles east, then return, going over this route ten times, making a hundred-mile race. Sentinels will be posted over the route and care taken that no horses are abused or overtaxed."
